HIGHLIGHTS

HTX'S FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Launched in December 2019, HTX has had a landmark year, rising to the challenge of taking science and technology for the Home Team to new heights, and playing a vital role to support Home Team officers involved in COVID-19 operations.

As we celebrate HTX's first anniversary, let's revisit their 2020 achievements!

The travel restrictions brought about by COVID-19 were no barrier to annual discussions on transnational crime and security matters between Singapore and our regional neighbours. Over the past two weeks, MHA delegations led by Minister K Shanmugam attended the 14th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting on Transnational Crime (AMMTC), held on 26 November, and the 3rd Sub-Regional Meeting on Counter-Terrorism (SRM), held on 1 December.

The AMMTC and SRM are key platforms to discuss cooperation and collaboration regarding transnational crime and security matters, as well as counter-terrorism and the prevention and countering of radicalisation and violent extremism in ASEAN and the Asia Pacific regions. Both meetings adapted to the challenging circumstances brought about by COVID-19 by adopting virtual modalities to ensure that countries could continue to come together on discourse related to transnational safety and security issues.

This was particularly critical amidst COVID-19. Singapore, as well as other countries in the region, observed that COVID-19 has had significant impact on various cross-border crimes. At AMMTC, several ASEAN Member States noted that crimes such as cybercrime, illicit drug trafficking, and terrorism grew at worrying rates despite travel restrictions and lockdowns imposed by governments. In his country statement at AMMTC, MIN Shanmugam noted that in Singapore, cybercrime and illicit drug trafficking continue to be of serious concern. In recent months, rates of cybercrime have soared – this is primarily attributed to increasing reports of scams, which saw a jump of almost 140% in the first half of the year compared to the same period last year.<sup>[1]</sup> CNB also discovered that drug traffickers and syndicates were using novel smuggling methods, such as hiding substances inside coconuts and papayas, to smuggle drugs into Singapore.<sup>[2]</sup>

Similarly, participants at SRM highlighted that terrorist groups’ tactics and strategies continued to evolve, with groups exploiting the pandemic to amplify radical ideology in the cyberspace. Terror groups such as Daesh were found to have an increasingly active presence online, reaching out to younger audiences who are spending more time online due to lockdowns and travel restrictions. This is especially concerning given the potential for such outreach efforts to inspire lone wolf attacks.

It is thus vital that we continue to foster strong regional cooperation in order to effectively address and tackle these growing threats. The constantly evolving nature of such cross-border crimes requires close cooperation and collaboration between countries to identify and combat threats swiftly and effectively. – CONTRIBUTED BY ICPD/MHQ

HOME TEAM ROUND-UP

ON DUTY DURING THE FESTIVE PERIOD

Serving on the frontline is hard work, but their spirits remain high! Our Home Team Guardians remained dedicated to keeping Singapore safe and secure during the year-end festive period, with many involved in supporting COVID-19 operations.

On 25th December, MIN K Shanmugam, 2MIN Josephine Teo, MOS Faishal Ibrahim and MOS Desmond Tan visited Home Team units on the ground to meet officers on duty and convey their appreciation for their hard work.

Thank you, Guardians!

On 2nd December, the United Nations Commission on Narcotic Drugs (CND) approved a recommendation from the World Health Organization (WHO) to remove cannabis and cannabis resin from its Schedule IV classification of dangerous drugs.

IMPACT OF CANNABIS ON PUBLIC HEALTH AND WELFARE

Singapore must stay drug-free to prevent harm to our population and society.

Cannabis is addictive and harmful
Singapore's stand on illicit drugs, including cannabis, is clear – they are harmful, addictive and can destroy lives, families and communities.

Short Term Effects:

- Hallucination
- Paranoia
- Visual Disturbance
- Hypotension

Long Term Effects:

- Increased risk of mental health disorders
- Impairments to the respiratory and cognitive functions

Limited scientific evidence on the therapeutic use of cannabinoids

- Singapore's drug control policies are underpinned by evidence and research.
- To date, there is no scientific evidence on the safety and efficacy of raw cannabis use for medical purposes. However, there is some research derived from controlled clinical trials which exhibits the potential therapeutic use of pharmaceutical cannabinoids to manage seizures and epilepsy*.
- Singapore will continue to allow the safe and controlled access to evidence-based medical treatment options.

*Cannabinoids are chemical compounds found in the cannabis plant, which can be processed into pharmaceutical products such as oral solutions and sprays and administered by doctors for specific medical conditions.

“Singapore is disappointed with this outcome. There is no strong evidence to support the recommendations... [which] could send a wrong signal that the CND has softened its stance against cannabis and fuel public misperception, especially among youths, that cannabis is no longer considered to be as harmful as before, despite strong evidence showing otherwise. Nonetheless, this will not impact Singapore's zero-tolerance stance towards drugs, including cannabis and cannabis-related substances.”

– Ambassador Umej Bhatia, Singapore's Permanent Representative to the United Nations, delivering Singapore's National Statement at the reconvened 63rd Session of the CND on 2 December

R's journey.

On 10 December, MIN K Shanmugam shared on Facebook an email that he'd received from a former cannabis abuser and drug supervisee named "R".

R wanted to share his experiences after reading MIN Shanmugam's response to the United Nations Commission on Narcotic Drugs' decision to remove cannabis from the most tightly controlled category of narcotic drugs, which was passed by the narrowest of voting margins. This is R's story.
